

Dequeues

In this practice problem, you must complete the implementation of the class Dequeue provided using a linked list.

Your implementation must pass all my tests in main().

I am providing you the client program with the tests, the header file with the class declaration, and the incomplete class implementation file.

Before writing any code, draw diagrams showing the behavior of each member function you must implement to ensure you understand how they work.